There are several different methods used to determine vendor accounts for a document:

- Header data entered by the user creating the purchase order or document
- Information contained within a catalog
- Environment-specific determination rules

Keywords: vendor determination